Overall Description

Sometimes people want to know a lot about specific people. If every person created a website about themselves, they would most likely become more well known. My website is all about me. I am describing the pieces of my life that contribute the most to the person I am currently. I hope everyone enjoys it.

5. Content can be found here: Hello. My name is Chris and I’m about to teach you a little bit about me. I am 18 years old and live in White Plains, New York. Football is my favorite sport and I love to play it as well as watch it. I am currently a double major at The University of Vermont in Business and Computer Science with a minor in Math. Not only am I a fan of getting good grades, but also I like to turn up with my friends who I have been with since day 1. We always manage to make things way funnier than they actually are. I am a momma’s boy to the extreme. I would do anything for my mother and I would do anything for my family if need be and that will never change. Click on some of the cool links above to see and learn more about me if you are still interested.
